DW1: Sh. Syed Faisal Huda, Forensic Experts and Consultants, H-42, Abul Fazal Enclave, Thokar No.4, Jamia Nagar, Okhla, New Delhi.

On SA

I have submitted my expert opinion on examination of doubtful signature about disputed signature on the cheque number 736974 drawn on ICICI bank, Dt. 08.04.04. It is exhibited as DW1/P1 and it bears my signature at point A, CD of the negatives of the disputed and admitted signatures alongwith documents on which signatures were made is Ex. DW1/P2.

XXXX By Sh. Om Sharam, counsel for complainant.

I came to know as to disputed and admitted signatures from the court file through Ld. counsel for accused. It is correct that handwriting of any person vary in course of time. Report Ex. DW1/ P1 contains my definite opinion and not conclusive as it is based on observation and same can not be determine with the help of any scientific instrument. I have not compared signature of accused of April 2004 with the disputed signature of accused. In my opinion variation will not take place in two signatures of a person on the ground of health taken on the same day. It is wrong to suggest that I have been told by counsel for accused as to which signatures be taken as disputed one and admitted one. It is wrong to suggest that I have deposited on the saying of accused.

Pr: Parties with counsel.

Examination in chief and cross examination of DW1 (handwriting expert Sh. Syed Faisal Huda) conducted and he is discharged. Perusal of record reveals that matter was fixed for final argument vide order dt. 10.09.10 by the Ld. Predecessor. However in compliance of order of revisionist court dt. 31.01.11 one witness was allowed to depose as accused had taken step in this regard prior to fixed date of hearing. Accordingly, let matter be put up for final argument on 18.04.11 at 2:00 PM. In the mean while, both parties are directed to file written synopses and authorities, if any before next date of hearing and to exchange the same to each other.
