I tender my report, which is Ex.DW2/A running into 11 pages, which bears my signatures at page no.10 at point A & B. As per my report, the signatures marked as D1 has not been written by the same person who has written the admitted signatures marked as A1, A2 & A3 in my report.

Xxxxxx by Sh. Ram Kumar, Ld. Counsel for complainant.

It is correct that I have not compared the signatures on the cheque in question with those on the receipt. It is correct that I have not taken photographs of the signatures on the cheque in question for examination. It is possible that signatures of a person can differ after a gap of three years. It is wrong to suggest that I have filed false report at the behest of the accused. It is further wrong to suggest that at the behest of the accused I did not take the photographs of the signatures on the cheque in question for examination. Vol. I have filed my report on the basis of the documents from the court file, which were shown to me.
